Flash floods recede

Mysuru-N'gud Highway re-opens after 3 days

Ministers GTD and S.R. Mahesh on damage assessment tour

Workers seen clearing the rubble on Mysuru-Nanjangud Highway this morning making way for vehicular traffic.

Nanjangud, Aug.13 (RS&DM)- Three days after the ever-busy Mysuru-Nanjangud Highway (NH-766) was shut for vehicular traffic due to severe water-logging on a stretch of the road near Mallanamoole Mutt where Kapila river overflowed due to incessant rainfall in Kerala, the Highway was re-opened for traffic this morning, thus bringing relief to thousands of motorists.

The Highway was closed for vehicular traffic since Friday morning and motorists were forced to take an alternative route, a detour of nearly 10 kms to reach Nanjangud from Mysuru.

Meanwhile, floods in Nanjangud town abated this morning as the inflow to Kapila and Kabini reservoirs decreased considerably.

Most parts of Nanjangud town had remained submerged for the past couple of days as water from the swollen Kapila river gushed into the town, with even the temple town's famous Srikanteshwara Temple surrounded with nearly 3 ft. deep water and most of the cluster temples partly submerged.

But the receding of floods in the past 12 hours has brought some relief to the residents of the temple town, who are left to fend for themselves as the town is not getting piped water supply for the past few days, due to non-functioning of motor pumps.

Meanwhile, District Minister G.T. Devegowda and Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh are likely to tour the taluk today to assess the damage caused by floods and to review relief measures.

Pillars at loggerheads

The three pillars of Democracy, namely (a) Legislature, (b) Executive and (c) Judiciary standing in a classical alignment are being exposed to the nation's citizenry by the fourth pillar, namely Media. The time-honoured definition of Democracy as it stands on these pillars may have to include the nation's people in a mass as the fifth pillar of Democracy, pending approval of this extended portrayal of the system by experts. Ironically, the first three pillars are neither stationary nor transfixed but are required to be acting for the government of the day to function. In any case, the fourth pillar, namely Media seems to be active 24x7 and the fifth pillar, the nation's people, seem to be over-active, given the countless episodes of protests, demands, bandhs, outrage and violence in pursuit of causes, mercifully for the benefit of one section or the other in the population.

In physical terms, the three pillars of Democracy need to be of ideally identical in girth and height, in order to function in tandem even as they stand on level ground. In the current scenario, this most necessary condition doesn't seem to have been met, given the just reported tug of war between the pillars, particularly between the Executive and the Judiciary.

An old not-often-cited Kannada idiom saying "Amidst the fighting between the parents, the child suffered starvation" befits the ongoing discord between the Union Government and the nation's Apex Court in the backdrop of all-too-familiar tardy ways of the Executive in implementing the laws and the Judiciary issuing orders on various issues of public administration, their number having risen to the point of annoying both the Legislature and the Executive as being faithfully reported upon by the Media. The latest to happen is the news that the Union Government telling the Supreme Court not to make adverse observations against it (in all PIL matters).

The argument put forward from the Government side questioning the Apex Court, namely, the nation of 1.3 billion population is facing all sorts of problems doesn't pass scrutiny. Also, citing the Court's diktat on closing liquor shops near Highways as leading to huge job losses in laughable. In sum, the pillars owe it to the nation's people to function in tandem and not at loggerheads.

FIGHT FOR WORK: At a press conference on the Rafale fighter jet deal in New Delhi on Wednesday last, former Union Finance Minister Yashwant Sinha had an interesting anecdote about privileges that Ministers enjoy under a powerful leader. Sinha said one of the Ministers in the Cabinet of Bidhan Chandra Roy, the second Chief Minister of West Bengal from 1948 to 1962, complained to Roy that he didn't have any work. According to Sinha, Roy told the Minister: "I have given you a Ministerial portfolio, a government bungalow, an official car and also a peon. Over and above this, now you want work too." — In Business Standard.

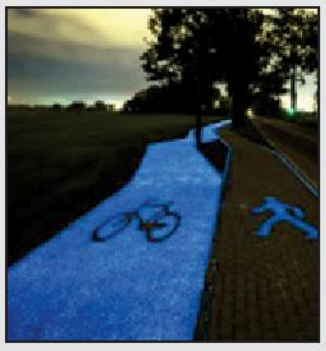
Man spends 40 years to set up Iguana sanctuary

Manzanillo: Ramon Archundia, a Mexican, has dedicated 40 years of his life to the preservation of Mexico's endangered iguanas. His magical 'iguanario', a reptile sanctuary in the center of Manzanillo city, is now home to 642 iguanas, as well as other wild animal species.

Sickened by the plight of iguanas at the hands of man, Ramon Medina Archundia rescued a pair of these majestic reptiles and set up a small enclosure for them in a marshy space in downtown Manzanillo, where two huamúchil trees offered the perfect place for sunbathing.

Ramon and his father Juan, kept bringing in new rescued iguanas, and after word of their small 'iguanario' spread around the city and the whole Mexican State of Colima, other people started bringing in iguanas, knowing that they would be well taken care of. Today, Iguanario Archundia is home to over 640 iguanas, as well as other 'donated' animals like raccoons, badgers or turtles.

Glowing bicycle path that's charged by Sun



Lidzbark Warminski: Scientists at Polish construction company TPA Instytut Badan Technicznych in Pruszkow created the innovative 100-meter bicycle path using luminophores, a synthetic material that lights up when charged with sunlight. According to TPA president Igor Ruttmar, "The material we used for the track gives light for over ten hours that means throughout the whole night and reaccumulate light the following day".

The glowing bike lane of Lidzbark Warminski, a small town in Northern Poland is still in a testing phase, as it is not known how long it will take for its luminescent properties to wear out.

Really...?

- Yes, a cactus can have leaves too, but they are either microscopic or soon fall off after a short growth spurt in the spring.
- Leaves use more than 60 botanical terms that can describe their plant structure or form! Some of these terms would include abscission zone, acicular, dicots,nomen illegitimum, monocotyledon, lignicolous and many more!
- Leaves are actually organs of the plant! It usually has two basic parts namely the lamina (the blade) and the petiole (the stem-looking object that connects the lamina to the stem). Some leaves have bigger lamina while some have smaller ones. Each of these variations serves a purpose, for example, plants in a rainforest will need a bigger lamina to increase their chances to get some light!

Capturing 'Decisive Moment'

Sir,

The photograph under the caption "Not mist, but a smoke screen" by freelance photographer G. S. Ravishankar published in SOM dated Aug.10 on Page-11, was simply outstanding.

With its ethereal quality imparted by the sunlight streaming through the smoke and the perfect timing with which even a cyclist has been included, it reminded me of some of the works of the great French photographer Henri Cartier-Bresson, who believed that capturing the 'Decisive Moment' was what made an outstanding photograph. My congratulations to Ravishankar !

Unsafe night train journeys

Sir,

Recently, I travelled from Hosur to Madurai and back by KSR Nagercoil Express on both directions in three tier AC. It is an excellent train. Even though it is an AC Coach and reserved compartment neither the TTE nor RPF staff take any care of the coach — all the doors are left open, anybody can get in and get out of the bogie at their will and 99% of passengers are fast asleep without bothering any safety.

Actually in my previous journey by Tanjore Express there was a theft in Dharmapuri outer and RPF personnel at Dharmapuri Station were helpless.

My advice for passengers is never travel by night trains; it is absolutely risky. Railways never bother about passengers' safety. RPF in running trains is a sheer waste.

Train journey: Some thoughts

Sir,

This has reference to the views expressed by Dr. H.S.R. Rao on night train journey (SOM dated Aug. 7). I wish to share my experience as a frequent traveller by Kaveri Express from Chennai to Mysuru in 2nd AC Coach.

The train runs to its capacity till Bengaluru and reaches around 3.30 am and most of the passengers alight and the doors are thrown open.

Unwanted elements get into the compartment and peep through the curtain and passengers who are sleeping expose themselves to risk. Elderly persons are easy targets. When questioned they quietly walk away.

As rightly stated, there are no TTEs or Police personnel to prevent these undesirable elements from entering the coach and to securely close the doors once passengers alight.

Will the Railway authorities view this situation seriously and take corrective measures by deploying TTEs and Railway Police in each compartments through the entire journey?

Use Aadhaar without fear: UIDAI

New Delhi, Aug.13 - After TRAI Chief's Aadhaar dare ignited a debate on the security of the 12-digit number, the Unique Identification Authority of India (UIDAI) is planning a user outreach to sensitise people to the dos and don'ts of sharing their biometric identifier.

The UIDAI intends to draw a parallel between the Aadhaar number and other personal information such as PAN (Permanent Account Number) and bank account number to caution users against placing such details in the public domain, particularly on digital platforms.

'No cause for fear'

"It is necessary to inform people that they should use Aadhaar freely, without fear, and a detailed FAQ (frequently asked questions) will be issued," Ajay Bhushan Pandey, CEO of UIDAI, said.

The FAQ will address nearly six queries on the issue, which has been hotly debated over the past fortnight ever since TRAI Chairman R.S. Sharma, a former Director-General of the UIDAI, tweeted his Aadhaar number and dared Internet users to show how mere knowledge of the ID can cause him "real harm". His tweet caused a flutter after some users claimed to have accessed his bank account number and e-mail id, though the TRAI Chief refuted their claims.

Cautioning people against publicising their Aadhaar number, the UIDAI, however, says it can be given freely for proving one's identity and for transaction purposes, just like one gives bank account or other details for a specific purpose.

Mere knowledge of Aadhaar cannot harm an individual or be misused for impersonation, as it is fortified with additional security layers such as biometrics and one-time password authentication, it says.

The UIDAI has also outlined the responsibilities of banks and other user organisations in carrying out the required checks in this regard.

Heavy rains pound Kodagu

High alert declared across district

Madikeri-Mangaluru NH-275 blocked due to landslide

Madikeri, Aug.13 (PS&DM)- With no respite from incessant rains, the Kodagu district administration has declared high alert across the district to monitor rain havoc and floods.

Even as rain continued to lash the district, the district administration has declared a holiday for schools and colleges today and will take a call on declaring a holiday tomorrow also depending upon the situation this evening.

Almost all water-bodies are full to the brim and some are even overflowing, causing concern for the residents.

Most of the roads in the district are water-logged and some bridges have been submerged.

Also, vast tracts of land are inundated with rain water.

Meanwhile, the outflow from Harangi Dam was recorded at 35,000 cusecs this morning, an increase of over 10,000 cusecs from yesterday, it is learnt.

Madikeri-Mangaluru road shut for vehicular movement: Even as the district administration is struggling to cope with pounding rains, a heavy landslide near Madenadu this morning, has forced the authorities to shut Madikeri-Mangaluru (NH-275) road for vehicular movement.

The road may be closed for several hours as it takes some time to clear the landslide and make way for traffic movement.

With the road blocked for vehicular movement, vehicles on the busy highway piled up on either side of the road, forcing the motorists to pray for early clearance of the road to continue with their journey.

Overflowing rivers, streams ...

Villagers going through harrowing time even to perform last rites of dear ones

Relatives of the deceased carry the body across the flooded bridge connecting First Monnangeri, Madikeri taluk.

Madikeri, Aug. 13 (PS&KS)- While good rain has brought cheers to some, it has added misery to many as continuous rainfall has resulted in the rivers and streams flowing above danger mark and many bridges flooded, which is giving a harrowing time especially to the villagers of First Monnangeri, about six kilometers from Madikeri not only to move about but also to bury and cremate the dead. Despite such a situation, the District Administration, instead of coming to their rescue is sitting with folded hands.

On Sunday, Acchapateera Machamma (92), a resident of First Monnangeri, passed away at a hospital in Madikeri and her relatives who brought the body to the village had a harrowing time to take the body to her residence as the connecting bridge was flooded. They had to carry the body on the submerged bridge by risking their own lives.

Heavy rainfall in Kodagu and in Kerala this time has caused misery in Kodagu district and the worst hit is First Monnangeri village coming under Gaalibeedu Gram Panchayat in Madikeri taluk, which has more than 80 families and more than 400 people use the only bridge there which is now submerged.

The bridge was constructed about eight years ago as a connecting bridge to First Monnangeri and if the authorities had increased its height by three more feet as requested by the villagers, there would not have been a situation where the villagers had to carry the body of the dead over the submerged bridge by risking their lives.

With rain water gushing from the hill, water in flowing in full force over the bridge and the villagers are forced to use the flooded bridge. Though there is a footbridge next to the flooded bridge which was constructed about 60 years ago, this footbridge too is now under water as a huge wooden log which came floating collided with it thus destroying it.

With both the bridges under water, the village has lost its connectivity with other places. This apart, more than 40 school children are forced to use the broken footbridge and the flooded bridge to go to their schools. There had been an incident in the past where a 7th standard student getting drowned while crossing the footbridge and despite such incidents, the elected representatives and the district administration are silent with no action being taken in this regard.

Despite the villagers of First Monnangeri writing letters and also presenting memorandum to netas, their pleas have fallen on deaf ears resulting in villagers continuing to suffer.

Regional parties play crucial role in Lok Sabha polls: A.H. Vishwanath

Mysuru, Aug.13 (PM&DM)- Claiming that regional parties of the country will play a key role in next year's Lok Sabha polls, State JD(S) President and MLA A.H. Vishwanath has asserted that the JD(S) as a regional party in Karnataka has made an indelible mark in the minds of the people, through its commitment for the welfare of the people.

Addressing a press meet at a private hotel here yesterday, Vishwanath said that he would work towards strengthening the party ahead of the Lok Sabha polls, after taking into confidence all leaders.

Lashing out at Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Vishwanath said the PM was merely making rhetorics through Doordarshan and AIR through his 'Mann Ki Baat' programme, while in reality the NDA Government headed by Modi was a non-performer.

Accusing Modi of having a dictatorial attitude, Vishwanath claimed that many Ministers in the Modi Government were not aware of what was going on, as Union Home Minister Rajnath Singh and Finance Minister Arun Jaitley were kept in the dark about the BJP's withdrawal to Mehbooba Mufti's Government in Jammu and Kashmir.

Pointing out that several leaders like Arun Shourie who were with the BJP in the past have begun to throw light on Modi's dictatorial attitude, the State JD(S) Chief said the BJP has no agenda to go before the people as it has no record of 'Kaam Ki Baat'.

Refusing to comment on tie-up with the Congress for the Urban Local Body (ULB) polls, Vishwanath said his party's focus now was on winning the ULB polls.

Prajwal Revanna has a good future: Commenting on Minister H.D. Revanna's son Prajwal Revanna's entry to politics, Vishwanath said Prajwal was a far-sighted leader who had a vision for development of the State.

Maintaining that Prajwal has a good future in politics, the JD(S) State President said although Prajwal is JD(S) supremo H.D. Deve Gowda's grandson, he is a leader in his own right, who can take the youth along with him. City JD(S) President K.T. Cheluvegowda, District President Narasimhaswamy, former Mayor R. Lingappa were present at the press meet.

The new JD(S) President also said that JD(S) supremo H.D. Deve Gowda can match PM Narendra Modi in terms of leadership. Hinting that Devegowda is also a Prime Ministerial candidate of the joint opposition, Vishwanath said that Deve Gowda has the experience to lead the nation.

BJP receives 160 applications for 19 Wards in Chamaraja Assembly segment

Mysuru, Aug.13 (RK&DM)- With the Chamaraja Assembly Constituency having elected BJP MLA L. Nagendra in the May Assembly polls, there has been a great demand for the party tickets in all the 19 MCC Wards falling under the Constituency.

Chamaraja MLA L. Nagendra on Sunday received 160 applications for 19 Wards falling under the Assembly segment.

The applicants included Ward 31 Corporator Girish Prasad, ward 17 Corporator Balasubramanya (Snake Shyam), BJP leaders Somashekar Raju, Shivakumar, Vaneesh, Punith, Harsha and Hema Nandish among others.

Later, addressing the applicants, Nagendra said that all the applicants cannot be issued tickets and those who miss out on tickets, should work for the party and ensure that the BJP wins a majority of its own in the MCC polls. Stressing on the need for the BJP to win the MCC polls, Nagendra said that the win will boost the morale of party workers. BJP leaders Sriram, Chikkavenkataraju and others were present.

Parties struggling to pick candidates for MCC polls

Mysuru, Aug.13 (SBD&DM)- With the State Election Commission announcing the MCC polls schedule, the three main political parties are faced with the challenge of selecting the right candidate for the polls.

The election for electing Corporators to 65 Wards of the city will take place on Aug. 31 and the counting of votes will be taken up on Sept. 3. All the three parties — Congress, JD(S) and the BJP — are flooded by applications from prospective candidates, with the nomination to the MCC polls commencing today (Aug.13). The last date for filing of nomination papers is Aug.20.

The JD(S), a partner in the coalition Government, has so far received 86 applications for 65 Wards with 36 in N.R. Assembly segment, 20 in Chamaraja and 30 in Krishnaraja Assembly segments.

The three parties are facing the problem as there are over half a dozen aspirants in every Ward. As the parties still have a week to decide on the candidates, the parties are screening the applications to select the right candidate.

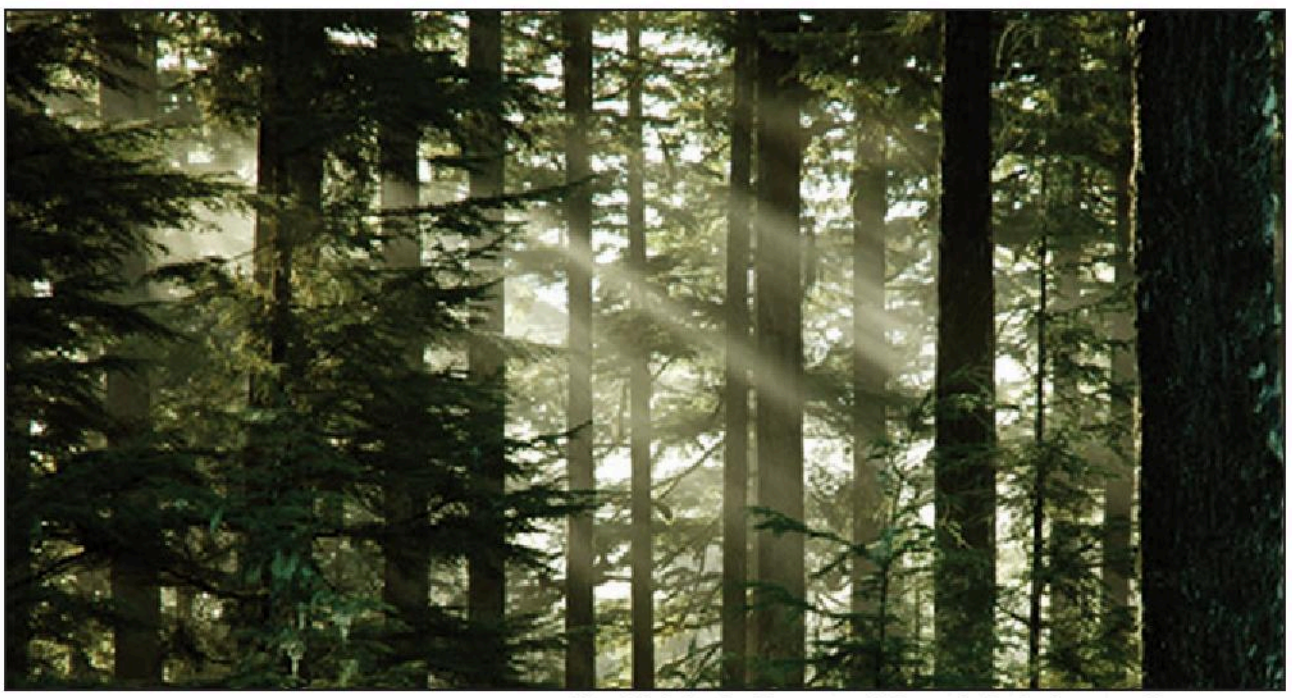
ALASKA

STRANGER THAN FICTION - 2



The thick Cedar Forest and the artistic Cedar standing tree.

By B.S. Narayanaswamy
Valuation Consultant, Bengaluru

Our next stop was Sitka town which is the seat of Alaska University and its ethnic capital. The Alaskans are very proud of their State and culture which was evident all along. Sitka enjoys a fair weather and good rainfall. The Russians, Alaskans and Americans lead a peaceful life. Sitka is famous for its rainforests and a walking tour along rainforest was our shore excursion.

A cycling tour along its roads, rainforests and the banks of the ocean was a memorable experience. The cedar trees of Alaska are 250 years old, 150-200 ft tall and very strong. The branches of this tree are trimmed (without dislodging the tree) and used for carving of fine standing arts.

Our next stop was not a land but a narrow portion of Pacific Ocean called TracyArm which is a Fjord (a long narrow, deep inlet of the sea/ ocean between high cliffs). Tracy Arm-Fjords Terror Wilderness contains 6,53,179 acres and consists of two deep and narrow fjords: Tracy Arm and Endicott Arm. Both fjords are over 30 miles long and one-fifth of their area is covered in ice.

During summer, the fjords have considerable floating ice ranging from hand-sized pieces to as large as a three-storey building. The Grand Princess sailed through these cliffs and the grand vista and canvas of nature unfolded on either sides. The ice-clad mountains atop the cliff and with ice melting and forming countless streams zigzagging their way to the Pacific Ocean made a perfect canvas for painting.

During three hours of journey, we lost count of the number of such dancing streams. As we drifted further in to the fjord, the floating ice with varying sizes started appearing. These ice bodies with a divine hue of white and sky blue and of different shapes made us wonder at the nature's wealth.

Around 10.30 am, the Grand Princess could not move further and stopped due to increase in such ice bodies. This gave us an opportunity to see various glaciers and ice-clad mountains. The sun came out in full vigour and played with ice over the mountains, icebergs and ice bodies. The time spent over the open deck is one of ever-cherishing memories.

After almost 36 hours of journey back southwards, we reached the city of Victoria, the capital of the province of British Columbia of Canada. Known as "The Garden City," Victoria is an attractive city and a popular tourism destination. Victoria is in the top-twenty of world cities for quality of life.

The offshore excursion planned was for Butchart Garden. The gardens have been designated as a National Historic Site of Canada. The beauty of this garden, established in 1921 and the sunken garden converted from an earlier quarry is unique in the world. It is difficult to describe in words the beauty of sunken garden with backdrop of dancing fountains encompassed between thick forests.

During the last leg of sailing back to San Francisco for another 40 hours the waves rose as high as 15 metres and the ship started wobbling. However, it ended soon. There was another rehearsal of Grand Princess entering into bay from the Pacific Ocean crossing the Golden Gate Bridge which seemed to greet us "Welcome Back."

The efficiency of the crew was displayed at the time of embarking and we were at parking place in 30 minutes. We learnt that about two thirds of the guests are on repeat voyage, enjoying all the facilities and amenities and unparalleled pampering to the hilt.

The major guests were Chinese and Americans with most of the couples being senior citizens enjoying second/ subsequent honeymoons. Physical constraints of senior citizens are not a major issue when compared to the various facilities made available at and during the cruise.

Considering the type of luxury, grandeur, quality of foods and wine and the facilities and amenities, the fare is reasonable. The point-to-point cruises start from San Francisco, Los Angeles and Seattle from June to September.

Appreciating the teams for taking part in the rehearsal though it was raining, the Police Chief asked the participants not to be careless and not to talk even if one stands in the last line as every small mistake was noticeable.

He also gave tips as to what one should do if they feel dizziness while standing for a long time during general salute — he asked students to let loose the toes instead of holding stiff.

Second Mysuru Literary Fest concludes

Mysuru, Aug.13 (NNN)- Even as writer, diplomat and politician Pavan Varma's lucid exposition of Adi Shankaracharya ended with very many insights into one of Hinduism's greatest thinkers and how relevant is his thoughts in today's world, the next panellist Prof. G. N. Devy, a writer and a critic, bounced a lot of ideas about the current scenario in the country about mobs, mobiles and declining diversity at the Second Mysuru Literary Fest held at the Senate Bhavan in Manasagangothri yesterday under the auspices of Mysore Literary Association (MLA).

Beginning his talk on how the British had introduced the Criminal Tribal Act in 1871, he said that this led to classifying a particular community of people who may or may not have indulged in criminal acts. But similar forms of the mob mentality in the 19th century in America was witnessed following the gold rush and also in Australia and other parts of the world, he said.

There was a time when mobs destroyed human beings as citizens and today citizens are being turned into mobs and hence there is something going wrong somewhere in the world and this leads to the next question 'has something gone wrong with the memory of the world,' said Prof. Devy.

In the last 30 years, man has outsourced memory to make chips. Telephone, which was an instrument of communication has now completely changed with the advent of mobiles which has become an extension of human brains, he opined.

Recalling that it is the 75th anniversary of the death of Kasturba Gandhi, who died in Aga Khan Palace in Poona and Gandhi had to leave the place alone later, Prof. Devy, with a tinge of sadness, said that if today, he spoke about Gandhi he would be branded an anti-national.

Talking about the cultural diversity of the country, he pointed out that it is dwindling at a speed comparable to the national diversity dwindling and how even a deliberate attempt is being made to dump many languages and only 121 are now declared as languages of India.

In the afternoon session, this talk was followed by Prof. V.K. Natraj's "Equity through discrimination: India's Quest" where the word equity is being used in social sciences and equity is considered as equality.

Quoting his friend Prof. C.K.N. Raja, he said that just by school children wearing uniform does not guarantee uniformity similarly, just by announcing that everybody is equal does not solve the problem.

Arguing for the protective discrimination, Prof. Natraj said that the University of Mysore which was formed in 1916 had the first non-Brahmin Hindu Vice-Chancellor Prof. B.L. Manjuanth only in 1950. The reservation policy introduced in 1949 was meant only for ten years but the protective discrimination in education and employment, there has no time limit been set, he noted.

The first Backward Classes Commission was set up under the Chairmanship of Kaka Kalelkar where he himself had said that the remedy is worse than the disease. However, it is worthy to note that the reservations had already been implemented in States like Karnataka and Tamil Nadu and hence the Mandal Commission report which caused huge unrest in North India did not affect South India, he said.

The next session was on "Translation: Challenges" in which the panellists were Prof. Lakshmi Chandrashekar, Prof. T.R.S. Sharma and Prof. Krishna Manavalli and each one of them shared their experiences about the challenges they have faced while translating some of the best works.

Prof. Lakshmi Chandrashekar, recalling how R.K. Narayan, the great Indian novelist used the word soup for sambar or rasam as he was writing for an exclusive English speaking readers would now look funny if it is used today and added that translation is always a tight rope walk.

Prof. Sharma said that no translation is final.

Prof. Krishna Manavalli strongly felt that there is the politics of translation which could even become a problem and shared her experience of translating Dr. Chandrashekar Kambara's works.

The last session "Are we a Sporting Nation" was a lively session with both former international athlete Arjun Devaiah, who is also a motivational speaker and senior sports journalist Vedam Jaishankar, coming to a consensus that if the country has to do well in sports then a lot of resources need to be put in and just a Rs.2,200 crore infused into sports will not help us getting anywhere close to producing champions in any sport.

Vedam said that the problem is finding good coaches and even a great athlete like P.T. Usha could not move up to her optimum level because her coach did not let her go.

Arjun Devaiah called for introducing sports as a subject allocating 200 marks and instead of the Government spending money ask every parent to spend just Rs.5,000 a year on their wards and see how the nation can change.

Vedam also shared how when he spoke to one of his friend's daughter she told him that she was doing Ph.D in Alternate History and when asked what it was all about she said that her subject was "What if Adolf Hitler had won the Second World War, how the world would have been today?"

He said that there are many other options available; only if the economy is doing good can other options including sports as a way of life can be thought of.

If instead, sports just becomes an entertainment, then no more human relations can develop, he said. Giving the example of Barack Obama, Arjun Devaiah said that the former President of the United States had pointed out that when Sachin Tendulkar was batting the productivity rate in America went down by 5 per cent and hence he wanted to see who this Tendulkar was.

Academician Dr. H.S. Shivanna moderated the session.

Star of Mysore was the media partner for the day-long Fest. Thus the Second Edition of Mysuru Literary Fest, well-attended by people from Mysuru, Kodagu, Bengaluru, Ooty and Goa, ended on a note of hope with lot of takeaways from all the panellists sharing their thoughts and ideas. MLA President Prof. K.C. Belliappa presided. Hon. Secretary Reginald Wesley proposed a vote of thanks.

Positive vibes

The process of controlling the movement of Chi was conceived during the emperor days. When Chi moves too quickly, it invites natural disasters like precipitous slopes that threaten avalanches in the winter or raging of rivers that overflow their banks in spring. One of the greatest achievements of the first yellow emperor was building of the Yellow River flood — Control System. Equal in effort to the Great Wall of China, which he completed in the North, this system consisted of a series of dam, locks and diversions of the river's course, segments of which are still in use today.

Today with scientific advancements, these practices could sound like a Chinese folk tale and ritual, yet this could be described in the objective terminology of science. The veins of the dragon are nothing but what the physicists call potential energy, energy contained within the body which is not in motion, like water held.

What we see affects us either positively or negatively and at times, we may not even be aware of the effect subconsciously. What we see or what we are surrounded generates that kind of energy and influences us. A good view, clean air, colours which are bright and interesting, pleasant décor, warm lighting are all said to create a positive feel and usher in happiness. The converse of the above situation would be a smelly home, dark, cluttered, improper lighting, which would bring in a sense of resentment, dejection and negativity in the minds of the occupants.

The internal layout in a building is quite important in ensuring the right Feng Shui to a living space or office. Staircase positioning plays a vital role in ensuring unhindered flow of energy, harmony and aesthetic design. The shape, size and location plays a vital role in determining the type of energy movement in a home or office space.

A simple approach to activating good energy in a home is the use of intelligent lighting. Lighting is an effortless Feng Shui cure for the home. Lamps, scones and chandeliers are simple home decorating items for the home. Bring Yin or Yang lighting into your home to activate or deactivate the energy of a specific life area. Along with lighting, placement of furniture, room shape and colours have an influence on the movement of energy within a space.

In most homes, the space in and around the stairs leading to higher or lower levels are often the most neglected space. Clutter and dumping of unwanted items under the staircase is also quite common. When your staircase has good Feng Shui, it distributes good fortune to the rest of home. However, when it is bad from a Feng Shui perspective, it spreads harmful energy causing illness, robbery and misfortune.

To ensure good energy into the home and especially activate the staircase area you can adapt:

• Use up lighting to light up dark corners, under stairs and beams so that the effect of negative energy is reduced.

• Avoid water under the stairs either in the form of storage or aquariums.

• Place healthy plants at the beginning and end of the stairs which helps in moderating the flow of energy.

• Avoid carpeting your stairs with the colour red, as this brings said to be bad Feng Shui

WORD OF THE DAY

Weald

Pronunciation: Weeld.
Meaning: A heavily wooded area,forest; a wild or uncultivated usually upland region.
Origin: The re-adoption of Old English 'weald' (Middle English weeld), forest, wilderness from Proto-Germanic an unverified form walthu. It has been in use as a general word for "forest" since the days of Old English, and it has also long been used, in its capitalised form, as a geographic name for a once-heavily forested region of southeast England. Weald is also often capitalised today when used to refer to wooded areas like the Weald of Kent and the Weald of Sussex in England. In time, the word branched out to designate any wild and uncultivated upland regions. A related word is wold, meaning "an upland plain or stretch of rolling land."
Example: Five Railways once crossed the Weald, now reduced to three.

THE ODD WORD

Hypnagogic

The state immediately before falling asleep.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Green-Eyed Monster

Meaning: To be overwhelmed with jealousy.

Origin: Green is a colour associated with sickness, possibly because people's skin sometimes takes on a slightly yellow or green tinge when they are seriously ill. Green is also the colour of many unripe foods that cause stomach pains. The phrase 'green-eyed jealousy' was used by, and possibly coined by, Shakespeare to denote jealousy, in The Merchant of Venice 1596. In Othello, 1604, Shakespeare refers explicitly to the 'green-eyed monster' as jealous. "O, beware, my lord, of jealousy! It is the green-eyed monster, which doth mock the meat it feeds on." — Iago. Before Shakespeare, the colour green was most commonly associated with illness. Shakespeare turned the notion of being sick with jealousy into a metaphor that we still use today. This expression 'green with envy' although is a 19th century phrase it is just a variant of 'green-eyed monster'.
Example: Reta needs to tame her green-eyed monster.
